

Domestic Abuse

1. Coercive Control. Domestic abuse is not necessarily a couple's problem arising out of a situation. Especially with coercive control, the problems and abuse lie within the perpetrator, who will continue the same behavioural patterns in all relationships. Original article: <http://eprints.glos.ac.uk/6896/1/6896%20Monckton-Smith%20%282019%29%20Intimate%20Partner%20Femicide%20using%20Foucauldian.....pdf>

Geographic Profiling

2. Geographic Profiling. Stranger rapes tend to occur closer to an offender's home than other types of crime, for example acquisitive and property crimes. Original article: <https://link.springer.com/article/10.1007%2FBF01064212>

Domestic Abuse

3. Magnitude. Domestic abuse cases make up 20% of all homicides of people over 16 in England and Wales, 40% of rape of females aged over 16 and 35% of all violent related offences. Matt Bland's chapter in: <https://amzn.to/3qpkCTg> *

*This is an affiliate link, meaning Amazon will give me a small % of the book price if you buy through this link.